

I'm learning more from them than I could ever teach them," Miley said. "But it is my hope that my background as a professional engineer inspires younger students to never give up."

Until she received a call from Anthony Dean, associate dean for research in the Batten College of Engineering and Technology, Miley was unaware of the $2,500-per-semester SoldierStrong scholarship, which is renewable for up to $5,000 per academic year.

"When I received the call from Dr. Dean,

I was humbled," Miley said. "On this campus, if you open your eyes and listen, there are so many people willing to make the effort to help you succeed. Dr. Dean is one of those people."

The scholarship also has been renewed for last's year's recipient, Stephanie Primeaux, who is also a Navy veteran. Primeaux is a senior majoring in mechanical and aerospace engineering, as well as a part-time NASA intern and a mother of two.

"The SoldierScholar program is aimed at helping our

The illuminator is a publication of the Batten College of Engineering & Technology

Stephanie Adams, Ph. D., dean
Keith Pierce, APR, director of communications and marketing

1105 Engineering Systems Building
Norfolk, VA 23529
(757) 683-3789 (office)
(757) 683-4898 (fax)
engineer@odu.edu

